Program Learning Goals

Note: these are required for all undergraduate degree programs and majors now, and will be required for all graduate and professional degree programs in 2012. Nonetheless, all programs are encouraged to complete these now.

- Program Learning Goals

Assessment

Assessment plan includes student learning goals, how those goals are evaluated, and how the information collected is used to improve student learning. An assessment plan is required for undergraduate majors and degrees. Graduate and professional degree programs are encouraged to complete this now, but will not be required to do so until 2012.

Is this a degree program (undergraduate, graduate, or professional) or major proposal? Yes

Does the degree program or major have an assessment plan on file with the university Office of Academic Affairs? No

Program Specializations/Sub-Plans

If you do not specify a program specialization/sub-plan it will be assumed you are submitting this program for all program specializations/sub-plans.

Pre-Major

Does this Program have a Pre-Major? No

Comments

- We need a list of courses covering the 30 hours needed for the degree; and exactly what is needed to acquire the degree in a program plan more descriptive than what is in the rationale. Do not bother sending this back until you provide that.

Chairs of Arts and Sciences CCI and CAA

Dear Chairs:

At the undergraduate level the Department of Political Science has one major program, the Bachelor of Arts Political Science major. In his cover letter, Department Chair Herb Weisberg mentions the revision of the major two years ago and notes that at this point there is no reason to change the major for the conversion to semesters. As a result the conversion is a straightforward adaption of the quarter version to an isomorphic semester version.

The conversion plan was reviewed by me and the Social Sciences Disciplinary Advisory Panel (SS DAP) and we found it to be appropriate for semesters and submit them to you for CCI’s consideration.

At the undergraduate level Political Science also has seven minors. In addition to the General Political Science minor, there are six specialized minors:

A) Campaigns and Elections
B) Comparative Politics
C) Judicial Politics
D) Political Decision Making
E) Political Theory
F) World Politics

The General Political Science minor was significantly revised and the six specialized minors were developed during late 2006 and all were approved in Spring, 2008. The semester versions are straight conversions of the relatively new quarter versions. The SS DAP has endorsed the semester versions and I have approved them and submit them for CCI’s consideration.

At the graduate level Political Science offers the Ph.D. and MA. In his letter, Department Chair Weisberg describes the departmental process that lead to the decision to convert both programs with only minimal changes.

The approval process for all Ph.D. and MA programs in SBS was that all of them were first examined and discussed for feedback and improvement by the SBS Graduate Committee, which is made up of the graduate directors. When ready for final consideration in the Division they move to the Social Sciences Disciplinary Advisory Panel (SS DAP). For other graduate programs in SBS the departments work with the associate dean and then the programs are sent to the SS DAP when ready.

The SS DAP has approved the Political Science Ph.D. and MA programs and I endorse those decisions and now submit the programs to CAA and the Graduate School for their consideration.

Sincerely,

Gene E. Mumy
Associate Dean of Arts and Sciences/Social and Behavioral Sciences

Gene Mumy
ASC/SBS

Dear Gene,

I am writing to convey the Political Science degree programs for the semester conversion process.

We have the following degree programs that we are converting:

- B.A. in Political Science
- 7 minors: Campaigns & Elections; Comparative Politics; Judicial Politics; Political Decision-Making; Political Science; Political Theory; World Politics
- Ph.D. in Political Science
- M.A. in Political Science

The Department has had on-going review of all of our degree programs in the last few years, including a major revamping of our graduate program, instituting the 6 new focused minors, and then revising our B.A. program. These changes are all very recent, so much so that students enrolling in them have not yet completed their degrees. We are analyzing the effectiveness of some of these changes, but we need to wait for more data on most of them. In any case, the faculty in our several subfields met to discuss how to convert their programs to semesters, our Undergraduate Affairs Committee and Graduate Studies Committee both met to make recommendations about the conversion of our degree programs to semesters, and we considered their recommendations at a meeting of the entire faculty and voted on specifics.

I recommend approval of our conversion proposals.

Sincerely,

Herb Weisberg
Professor and Chair

PROGRAM TEMPLATE: POLITICAL SCIENCE M.A.

I. GENERAL PROGRAM INFORMATION

1. Program Name: Political Science M.A.

2. Degree Title: Masters of Arts

3. Academic Unit: Department of Political Science

4. Type of Program: Graduate M.A. degree

5. Semester Conversion Designation: Conversion to semesters will occur with minimal changes to program goals and curricular requirements.

Program Rationale

The Political Science Department graduate program is primarily a Ph.D. granting program. Nonetheless, the department has occasionally admitted students to a Master’s degree and a student enrolled as a doctoral candidate may obtain an M.A. either on the way to the doctorate or in the event that the student withdraws from graduate study without completing the doctorate.

The Master’s degree requires 30 credit hours of courses at the graduate level, at least 21 of which must be graded. With the approval of the Graduate Studies Committee, students may count courses from other departments toward the Master’s degree, but at least 21 credit-hours must be taken in Political Science. In addition to these course requirements, students who seek the M.A. without passing the Ph.D. Candidacy Examination must either complete a Master’s thesis or pass a Master’s examination through the non-thesis option.

For the Master’s thesis, a student must select a committee of at least two faculty members to work with, the advisor and one other member of the Political Science faculty. A draft of the completed thesis must be circulated to the Master’s committee and must be approved by the master’s examination committee before the student takes the examination. The nature of the examination is determined by the members of the committee but it must include an oral portion. If the student satisfactorily completes the master’s examination and if the student presents an acceptable thesis, the master’s examination committee members indicate approval of the thesis by signing the Thesis Approval form.
The non-thesis Master’s examination requires a two-member examination committee comprised of the faculty advisor and at least one other member of the Political Science faculty. The committee is responsible for the construction, conduct and evaluation of the examination, in consultation with other faculty members in the relevant fields. The exam must include a written portion of at least four hours and may include an oral portion.

Beyond these department-level expectations, the thesis and non-thesis options follow the guidelines provided in Section VI of the Graduate School Handbook.

Students who have passed the Ph.D. Candidacy Examination may obtain the M.A. using the Ph.D. Candidacy Examination in place of the examination requirements of the non-thesis option. Students following this procedure must submit an Application to Graduate form to the Graduate School at the beginning of the semester during which they take their Ph.D. Candidacy Examination.

 Semester Advising Sheet

The Master’s degree in Political Science has program-wide requirements and additional requirements specific to our various major and minor fields. All students must select a major concentration from among the five major fields (American Politics, Comparative Politics, International Politics, Political Methodology, and Political Theory) and a minor concentration from among the five major fields or four minor fields (Formal Theory, Political Economy, Political Psychology, and Race, Gender and Ethnicity). More individualized programs, including those that include coursework in other departments and schools, may be developed in conjunction with a student’s adviser and with the approval of the Graduate Studies Committee.

To be eligible for the MA degree, students must meet the program-wide, major and minor requirements outlined in the table below. In the spring of the first year, students must submit a proposed Program of Study, indicating which courses they have taken and which they plan to take. These must be approved by the faculty in the student’s major and minor fields and by the Graduate Studies Committee.
